

Uniform mark (UMS) guidance: an example for GCSE English Lit

What are uniform marks and why do we use them?

Grade boundaries are set using raw marks. Raw marks are mapped to uniform marks to make a GCSE from the best recorded results for your student from any given examination series.

Uniform marks are used to ensure that the standard required to gain a particular grade is the same from year to year.

Below we have exemplified what the use of uniform marks means in GCSE English Lit (2ET01).

Milan and Jelilat are both re-taking GCSE English Lit Unit 1 higher tier this series.

Unit 1 (5ET1H) is out of 80 raw marks and has a total UMS of 120.

After they have sat the examination and their papers have been marked, Edexcel senior examiners recommend the raw mark grade boundaries as follows:

Unit 1	Max. Mark	A*	A	B	C	D	E	F	G	U
Raw Mark boundary this exam series	80	72	65	57	50	41
Raw mark boundary last exam series	80	70	63	55	48	39
Uniform Mark boundary	120	108	96	84	72	60

IMPORTANT NOTE:

*The raw boundary marks listed above are for illustration only to show how raw marks map to uniform marks in this subject area and should not be taken as the actual grade boundaries for the unit.

Why are the raw marks boundaries different in this series compared to the last series?

You'll notice, for example, that at A the raw boundary mark was 63 last series; this series it is 65. However, you will also notice that A will always have a uniform mark of 108.

Why do raw mark boundaries change?

Raw mark boundaries change from series to series since examination papers can vary in how they perform with students. Even though the raw mark boundaries have changed, the uniform mark for each grade boundary remains the same for all series. In this example, the reason for the different raw mark boundaries is that, in this exam series, the paper was less challenging, while the ability of the students remained consistent.

In the last examination series when Milan and Jelilat took this exam for the first time, Milan scored 47/80 and Jelilat scored 60/80 in raw marks.

This series, Milan scores a raw mark of 50/80 and Jelilat scores 63/80.
